Our Commission

By Daphne Delay

As I sat down in my favorite spot to spend some time with the Lord today, I couldn't help but think about the Great Commission.

Turning to the Book of Matthew, Mark, Luke, and John, I read each of their accounts of the instruction given to them by Jesus. Considering that we are now His disciples also, these apply to us.

In Matthew, Jesus said, "All authority has been given to Me in heaven and on earth. Go therefore and make disciples of all the nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit, teaching them to observe all things that I have commanded you; and lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the age" (Matthew 28:18-20).

Jesus had retrieved the authority Satan stole in the garden from Adam. His commission now was to send out disciples with His authority to GO! The Holy Spirit once said to me, "Jesus didn't say 'Wait for an invitation…'" He instructed us to go make followers, learners, discipled ones, pupils of the Master.

The Book of Mark recounts that after Jesus appeared to several disciples, some did not believe them when they reported it. Jesus rebuked their unbelief and hardness of heart, and said, "Go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. He who believes and is baptized will be saved; but he who does not believe will be condemned. And these signs will follow those who believe: In My name they will cast out demons; they will speak with new tongues; they will take up serpents; and if they drink anything deadly, it will by no means hurt them; they will lay hands on the sick, and they will recover" (Mark 16:14-18).

Jesus warned them that many will struggle believing, but evidence of God's power will go with those who preach the gospel. In fact, the Bible says as these went out, the Lord worked with them confirming, establishing, and validating the message with indisputable evidence and indications of the Holy Spirit (verses 19-20). This is our mandate also.

In the Book of Luke, we find that throughout Jesus' time on earth with His disciples, He told of things to come. Then after He arose from the dead, "He opened the understanding [of His disciples] that they might comprehend the Scriptures. And He said, 'Thus it is written and thus it was necessary for the Christ to suffer and to rise from the dead the third day, and that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in His name to all nations, beginning at Jerusalem'" (Luke 24:45-47).

Many people will question the message we preach, but preach it anyway! The Holy Spirit will open their understanding. And remember, some of the best sermons are those that are preached with no words. Our lives are living testimonies of the power of God.

And lastly, in the Book of John, Jesus told Thomas, "Blessed are those who have not seen and yet have believed" (John 20:29). Our message must be believed by us first, before it will ever be believed by the world. But that's not all. Jesus later asked Peter, "Do you love Me?" Peter said yes, of course. Jesus said, "Feed My lambs [My young disciples in the Lord]." A second time, Jesus asked him. Peter again said yes, of course. This time Jesus said, "Tend My sheep [My mature disciples need looking after]."

And a third time, Jesus asked Peter, "Do you love Me?" Peter was grieved that He would ask again, and emphatically said, "Yes, Lord, You know that I love You." So Jesus said, "Feed My sheep [keeping them well fed also] and follow Me." (John 21:15-19)

We must remember Jesus cares about His sheep as much as He cares about the salvation of the world. Our commission involves both. So as you go out today, go with the commission on your mind, in your heart, and in your steps. Jesus is with you!
