MATH LOVER'S BINGO!

Just in time for Valentine's Day, here's a game that you can play in class or at home!

HOW TO PLAY:

- Cut out the three bingo cards and give one to each player.
- Cut out the numbered hearts. Each player places 25 numbered hearts in any order they want on their card.
- Cut out the math problem cards, place them in a small bowl and mix them up.
- Taking turns, each player pulls one math problem from the bowl and reads it aloud.
- If a player has the answer to that math problem on their card, they remove that numbered heart. (Example: If the math problem is 1 + 1, the player with "2" on their card removes it.)
- The first player to remove five numbered hearts in a horizontal, diagonal, or vertical line wins.
- Mix up the numbers and play again!

BONUS CHALLENGE:

- Play a "Four Corners" round. The first player to remove a numbered heart on all four corners of their card wins. Can you think of other game variations to try?
