Eliminate Hazards. Prevent Poisonings.

More than 2 million poisonings are reported in the U.S. each year.

Most of these poisonings occur in the home and half involve children under age 6. Chemicals, household cleaners and medications are all potential sources of accidental poisonings.

Follow these tips to poison-proof your home and protect the little ones you love.

- Place medications, cleaning products and any toxic substances out of children's reach and sight, and store them in their original containers.
- Carefully read and follow label instructions when giving any medication to your child.
- Safely dispose of all unused or expired prescription and over-the-counter drugs and supplements.
- Keep the number for the poison control center in your cell phone and by your home phone: 1.800.222.1222

If you think a child has been poisoned and the child is awake and alert, call 1.800.222.1222. If a child has collapsed or is not breathing, dial 911 immediately.

We care about your health.
